

INCREASE WAS FLATLY REFUSED

Men at the New York "L" Road Can Work or Quit.

ULTIMATUM BY OFFICIALS

EMPLOYEES SEEK AN ADVANCE IN WAGES.

New York, Aug. 30.—The demand of motormen and firemen of the "L" road for an increase in wages and a decrease in the hours of labor in the new subway was refused today by the officials of the Interborough Rapid Transit company. This decision was announced after a long conference between General Manager Gray and General Superintendent Hadley of the Interborough company and a committee representing the employees. The question of wages alone when arrangements were being made for opening the subway. When the announcement was made that applications for positions in the subway would be received on a certain date and that men at that time in the employ of the company on elevated and surface lines would be given preference, it was announced that the pay for motormen would be $3.50 per hour. The motormen on the elevated lines now receive $2.50, and a movement was begun to secure a similar rate in the subway. Many meetings have been held and the question has been widely discussed by employees of the road, but no formal action regarding the enforcement of the demand has yet been taken.

The local officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen discussed the subway trouble tonight with President Pepper and his associates of the Amalgamated Association of Street & Electric Railway Employees. Mr. Jenkins said that arrangements had been made through Mr. Bryan for the local committee to meet August 31st tomorrow for the purpose of making a final appeal to the interest of the men engaged to operate trains in the subway.

National Officers Stone and Hurley said tonight that the negotiations for a settlement regarding the pay and working hours of the men to be employed in the new subway are still in the hands of the local committees. They are here simply to watch the progress of affairs. They admitted, however, that Chief John J. Hannehan of the Brotherhood of Firemen, who is at Peoria, Ill., has been asked by telegram to come here as quickly as possible. As Chief Hannehan, Hurley understands that the men are anxious to strike and he may not be able to restrain them in case Mr. Belmont should not accede to their demands.

IRISH REFORM PLATFORM.
Present Financial Administration Declared Wasteful.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The Irish Reform association has adopted a platform for the association, which, it firmly maintains, is the only parliamentary union of Great Britain and Ireland is essential to the political stability of the empire and the welfare of the two islands, expresses the belief that such a union is compatible with the devotion to Ireland of a larger measure of local government. It considers that such a union, while avoiding matters of imperial concern and subjects of common interest to the two islands, would be beneficial to Ireland and would relieve the imperial parliament of a burden which is expending its time to the detriment of more important concerns.

The association also considers that the present financial administration of Ireland is wasteful, that it ought to be revised, and that the time has arrived to extend to Ireland the system of private bill legislation, which has been so successful in Scotland. It advocates urgently higher education and expresses the desire to confer all the power to further the policy of land purchase in the spirit of and on the general lines laid down by the land conference report.

BIG LINER DISABLED.

Steamer Phenicia Drifting in Middle of Atlantic.

Bremen, Aug. 30.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kron Prinz Wilhelm, reports having sighted, Aug. 27, the Hamburg-American liner steamer Phenicia, which left New York, Aug. 26, in latitude 46, longitude 24, apparently drifting.

Inquiries made at the offices of the Hamburg-American line company in New York show that nothing was known there this afternoon of the report made by the Kron Prinz Wilhelm that the steamer Phenicia, of that line, had been sighted drifting at sea. The Phenicia has on board over 70 cabin passengers and about 170 passengers in the steerage.

The point where the Phenicia was sighted is about 1,300 miles from New York and is in the track of trans-Atlantic steamers.

It is probable that the Phenicia's engines were out of order when she was sighted by the Kron Prinz Wilhelm. No fears are entertained for her safety.

BOUGHT BY ROCKEFELLER.

United Salt Company Falls Into Standard Oil Hands.

Cleveland, Aug. 30.—A supplemental report of the special master in the sale by the common pleas court of the United Salt company properties today showed John D. Rockefeller to be the highest bidder and the probable purchaser of the concern. The United Salt company is, or rather was, one of the largest and most important interests in the American salt industry, but in the last few years its value and its assets have decreased by reason of extensive and complex litigation. Rockefeller's bid is $60,000, a conditional offer of $120,000 is made, however, which is contingent upon the court's approval of the terms of the sale, including the deal. The sale of the United Salt company is the result of three years of receivership, into which it was thrown when the National Salt company, better known as the Salt trust, attempted to merge with it.

PLANS FOR LABOR DAY

Unions Will Have Horse Races and Sports—Parade to Start Programme.

The various bodies affiliated with the Utah Federation of Labor are making arrangements through committees appointed by the union to have a labor day at Calder's park next Monday. There will be three horse races—trotting, steeplechase and running, for which purses aggregating $1,000 will be offered. There will be a number of other sporting events, in which prizes amounting to $500 will be given. They will include foot racing, basketball, tug racing and tug-of-war. There will also be various contests by men and women for cash prizes. The day's programme will begin with a street parade, in which there will be floats representing number of lines of industry and in which the different unions will take part.

The unions that are subordinate to the Federation of Labor are determined to make the day an eventful one, the building laborers' union, decided to hold a parade. They have a grievance against the Federation, which they believe is not doing its best to protect their interests. The building laborers will not parade with the other unions, but will have a parade of their own.

"First—We are not connected in any way with the American Federation of Labor," said the union.

"Second—We want no connection with the American Federation of Labor," said the union.

"Third—The American Federation of Labor tried to force the international to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, and we were treated with contempt, and as a result we withdrew," said the union.

"Fourth—Samuel Stringfellow, who was not a laborer, would have been given preference, it was announced that the pay for motormen would be $3.50 per hour. The motormen on the elevated lines now receive $2.50, and a movement was begun to secure a similar rate in the subway. Many meetings have been held and the question has been widely discussed by employees of the road, but no formal action regarding the enforcement of the demand has yet been taken."

"One of the great disappointments of our trip," says Judge Powers in referring to the recent journey of the "Herald" to Portland, is the fact that the "Herald" was unable to lose A. N. McKay. EXHIBIT IS INSTRUCTIVE.

Horticulturists Impressed by Samples of Utah's Products.

The exhibit at Utahna park this week, on account of the Knights Templars passing through the city, although not such a large exhibit as is made at the October fair, is nevertheless a local horticulturist's creditable showing, and certainly for this time of the year, when it is too late for early fruit and too early for late fruit and vegetables. Taken as a whole, our visitors will get an idea of the productivity of the state.

One is struck with an exhibit made by a local business man after office hours. He has twelve-two bottles of different fruits, jellies, pickles, even a lot of nuts and a little of eggs, preserved—thirteen different varieties of vegetables and eight varieties of fruits. Yet this is only a partial exhibit of what this man produces, and from which he sustains his family the year around, in fresh milk, eggs, vegetables and fruits. It certainly is an object lesson to owners of city lots and country farms, and can be done on five-eighths of an acre.

There are shade and ornamental trees, shrubs and flowers of many varieties, all growing in a small space. The ground is fertilized every year, and the trees pruned and sprayed, so that the labor performed, besides being a profitable one, is a creditable one. The exhibit also contains 500 strawberry plants, 600 small fruit bushes and 30 large fruit trees.

Future World Language.

(New York World.)
What will be the world language of the future?

That it will be English is the prediction of many scholarly observers. The probabilities are that it will partake of the best features of all modern tongues.

It is a safe proposition to assume that the race which dominates the commerce of the world will impress its language upon the world.

The English-speaking people are today the leaders in world activity. As a result the English language is spoken by more people today than is any other civilized tongue.

The recent action of Germany in giving the English language an expanded and above all other foreign tongues is formal recognition of the fact and not the mere arbitrary expression of a choice.

The strong point is made, however, that America more than England is responsible for the change.

The third of the people who speak English live on this side of the Atlantic, and their industrial and commercial conquests are making the tongue familiar in every quarter of the habitable globe.

French is still regarded as the diplomatic and "polite" language of the world, but the English language is being rejuvenated by American transplantation, is becoming the universal business tongue.

The world language of the future, therefore, is that which America will speak and teach.

How to Play Poker.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)
First, then, let me inform you that you should never seem anxious to play poker. If he drops in at the cigar store where a game is arranged for nearly every night he should let it be known that he has no thought of poker in his mind when he came there. Indeed, he should sit back and talk horse until somebody comes in to play. This makes it possible for him afterward to say, "Well, I didn't want to win your money, but you dragged me in."

time. The same effect is produced if, after he has seen his hand, he sits and holds it in utter silence until somebody says: "Well, what do you do?" If it is then well for him to remark: "If this game of hearts were the ace of spades I'd open it for the suit." By this time the rest of the players usually begin to get a glimmer of the hope that ultimately he will pass, so they throw their hands into the deck. Then it is a good idea for him to slide in a blue chip and add: "Hold on! Here's a pair! I didn't see it open it."

If perchance he really does pass he should never fail to reach over and grab the pack; for how can he hope ever to master the noble science of poker unless he each time makes an autopsy to determine what every playing card would have got in the draw if he had opened it and all he's staked?

As soon as possible he should play out all his red and white chips. If he can't do this fast enough in the ordinary course of the game, he should change out every blue chip that happens to be thrown into the pot. The advantage of having only black chips is that it is that which he wants to bet a white he can go shy and maybe the other fellow will forget it or be too polite to threaten so much as a matter. I believe it was Benjamin Franklin who said that a penny saved is a penny earned; and Benjamin Franklin was, you know, a great philosopher.

A Happy Accident.

(Chicago Journal.)
An accident—a cut on the finger—caused Edison to invent the phonograph. The man who did it was Mr. Edison. He told the story of this invention to a visitor recently. At the time, he said, he was singing into a telephone. He was given forth, very mouthpiece he had placed for safekeeping a fine steel point. Suddenly this point cut his finger. He found, to his surprise, that it had been standing here and there and roundabout, guided by the vibrations of his voice.

He placed a strip of yellow paper under the steel point and replaced it with the mouthpiece, and said the alphabet. The steel, while he spoke, ran over the paper, and for each letter of the alphabet it made a different mark, or scratch.

This was what Mr. Edison had hoped for. He now held the steel point still and drew the paper scratches slowly over it. The scratches were given forth, very faintly, the alphabet as he had repeated it.

Thus the principle of the phonograph, the registered and without ask of the voice's vibrations—was discovered through the cutting of a finger. It was "Edison's finger," though, that was it. Smith or Brown's finger has been quite handy once and no phonograph would have resulted.

People Are Right-Footed.

(New Orleans Times-Democrat.)
"We have a great deal to say about men who are right-handed, and much has been written and said on the subject," said the observant man; "but we have heard but very little about the right-footedness of humankind. If I may put it that way, yet it is a fact, according to men who ought to know, that this trait is quite as pronounced in human beings as right-handedness. Go ask the shoe man. He will tell you that in 999 cases out of every 1,000 the customers will put the right foot foremost on the right shoe first and try it on first, all of which would seem to indicate that we are all right-footed. Shoe dealers and shoe makers will tell you that the right foot is used more, and consequently develops the muscles to a greater extent. On the other hand, the left foot is larger than the right in most persons. The difference is so slight that we seldom have trouble in fitting shoes, however. It is the left shoe that wears out before the right, and probably for this reason. We are just as much right-footed as right-handed, and don't you make any mistake about it."
